Educational Review is a leading journal for generic educational research and scholarship. For overhalf a century it has offered authoritative reviews of current national and international issues in schooling and education. It publishes peer-reviewed papers from international contributors which report research across a range of education fields including curriculum, inclusive and special education, educational psychology, policy, management and international and comparative education. The editors welcome informed papers from new and established scholars which encourage and enhance academic debate. The journal offers two editions a year which publishnon-commissioned papers and the third issue which deals with a current topic in-depth. A regular feature of the journal is state-of-the-art reviews on issues across the educational spectrum. An extensive range of recently published books is reviewed. Readership is aimed at educationists, researchers, and policy makers.
